CME and SAM Information

CME

The American Roentgen Ray Society (ARRS) is accredited by the Accreditation Council on Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) to sponsor continuing medical activities for physicians.

The ARRS designates this educational activity for a maximum of 2.25 credits toward the AMA Physician's Recognition Award. Each physician should claim only those credits that he/she actually spent in the activity.

- Up to 1.0 credit may be claimed for Clinically Suspected Intussusception in Children: Evidence-Based Review and Self-Assessment Module.
- Up to 1.0 credit may be claimed for Radiological Reasoning: Recurrent Right Lower Quadrant Inflammatory Mass.
- 0.25 credit may be claimed for completing both AJR Teaching File: Hemoptysis and Enlarging Right Upper Lobe Mass and AJR Teaching File: Groin Pain.

These CME articles consist of text and related images appearing in this supplement in print and online at www.ajronline.org and www.arrs.org. You should read the articles, review the accompanying images, refer to the references, and complete the self-evaluation quiz available online. To obtain CME credit, visit www.arrs.org and select the AJR Integrative Imaging link on the left. There is no charge for ARRS members to participate in this program.

Date of release: August 23, 2005

Expiration date: August 22, 2008

Estimated time of completion: 2.25 hours

In compliance with the Essentials and Standards of the ACCME, authors of the CME activities in this publication are required to disclose all relevant financial relationships with any commercial interest to the ARRS. The ACCME defines "relevant financial relationships" as financial relationships in any amount occurring within the past 12 months that create a conflict of interest.

Drs. Chew, Bittle, Applegate, Roberts and Muhm have all indicated that they have no commercial interests to disclose.

SAM

Clinically Suspected Intussusception in Children: Evidence-Based Review and Self-Assessment Module is qualified by the American Board of Radiology (ABR) in meeting the criteria for self-assessment toward the purpose of fulfilling requirements in the ABR Maintenance of Certification. To obtain SAM credit, visit www.arrs.org and select the AJR Integrative Imaging link on the left.
